

I am one of the many Americans who are appalled by Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election.

This is such a clear violation of FCC rules mandating that users of the public airwaves are obligated by law to serve the public interest. It is becoming more and more apparent that the large companies that control the airwaves have agendas of their own which have no connection to those of the communities which they allegedly "serve."

Sinclair's actions show why we need to strengthen media ownership rules, not weaken them. They show why the license renewal process needs to involve more than a returned postcard. Thank you.
